WHAT'S GOOD ABOUT THIS MONTH?

It's february

February is the second month of the year in our modern day Gregorian calendar. It is the year's shortest month with only 28 days in common years and 29 days in leap years.

February starts on the same day of the week as March and November in common years. During leap years, February starts on the same day of the week as August. Once every six years and twice every 11 years, the month of February will have only four full sevenday weeks, where the first day of the month starts on a Sunday and ends on a Saturday. Its birth flower is the violet and the common primrose.

NESTLE CULINARY CAMP

As the first month of the New Year ended, the school faculty hosted a Culinary Camp. This camp was held in the Central Courtyard of the school, on the 30th of January.

Professional Chefs from the 'International Institute of Culinary Arts' (IICA), New Delhi, arrived and familiarized the Grade 9 students with some basic skills and techniques used while cooking. The Camp kick started with a presentation on Personal Hygiene and its importance while cooking. The keen chefs were happy to receive our equal enthusiastic response towards the presentation. After some theoretical briefing on the Art of Culinary, the hour finally came for us to wear our aprons and start cooking.

Everyone got involved immediately. We chopped, crushed, grinded, and peeled a medley of vegetables and fruits, and used them to make Mouth Watering Pastas, Pancakes and Smoothies. While we cooked, the photographer captured us, holding knifes, spoons, blenders and what not, in his camera. Every now and then, we took suggestions from the chefs and they also very enthusiastically helped us. We, eagerly relished what we cooked. Our School Teachers and our IGCSE Head also joined us, towards the end. We gained a lot of exposure, through this camp, for cooking. It was a delightful experience for everyone. We now have our very own group of Young Goenkan chefs!

SCIENCE QUIZ FOR GRADE IX

A Science Quiz for Grade 9 students was conducted on 27th of January in the school auditorium. The event witnessed enthusiastic preparation and participation. Four sections of Grade 9 were made four different teams. There were four rounds i.e. MCQ Round, Visual Round, Choose the Correct Answer round and Invention and discovery round.

All the students took part in the quiz enthusiastically. The program was conducted by three students Ananya Singh, Anisha Neogi and Vrakshita Kothari. The program was compiled and supervised by Ms. Anumeha Thakur. The IGCSE Coordinator Ms. Shahnaz Banoo appreciated the efforts of the teachers and the students and motivated them to keep themselves updated. The school encourages positive competition and hopes to bring out the best in all its students through such competitive events, while ensuring that the children learn through all possible ways- not just through books and class-room teaching.

CELEBRATION OF INTERNATIONAL DAY OF WOMEN AND GIRLS IN SCIENCE

During the IGCSE assembly held on 10th February, students remembered Ada Lovelace, who wrote a computer program in 1842 for a machine that hadn't been built at that time. Marie Curie and Dr. Suniti Solomon, who first discovered that the deadly HIV/AIDS virus had made its way to India, took measures to contain the virus. Science and Gender Equality are both fundamental for the accomplishment of the global development. Unfortunately, girls and women either have been kept away from science, or their names remain hidden as their contribution is not acknowledged. Despite the past experiences, there is hope ahead as more women are making it to college and graduate levels of STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, and Maths). There also have been stronger efforts to encourage women to pursue a career in the field of science. With such enlightening discussions and presentations ended the assembly on International Day for women and girls

COLLABORATIVE LEARNING FOR VISUAL ARTS STUDENTS IN THE LIBRARY AND ART ROOM

The 7th of February, 2017 marked a new initiative between the Librarian and Visual Art Teacher working on an interdisciplinary theme for Grade 6 students. The pupils have been learning about Africa in their Social Studies classes. The plan was to bring in the tribal custom of face painting into the classroom so the resources were to be provided in the library. The Visual Arts students of Grade 6B had the opportunity to leave through books, magazines and they were also shown some slides of painted faces of African tribal people.

The next stage was to use the visual stimuli and recreate interesting designs on drawn/printed faces during the next Visual Art class. On the 8th of February, the students were given outlines of faces to paint and decorate, taking inspiration from what they had seen the previous day.

On the 9th of February, the Visual Arts students of 6A had their turn at looking at the material their counterparts had seen two days before. Discussions in class also brought in social practices of other countries and a lively interactive session followed.

The Visual Art students of Grade 6A were also given outlines of faces to paint in with designs and patterns they had seen on the 13th of February, 2017. Just recently the project was completed and the results were quite varied and interesting. The students and the undersigned are indebted to Miss. Madhu and Miss. Manjubala for their help and support and we look forward to more collaborative efforts in the future.

PINCH POT ANIMALS- A CLAY WORKSHOP

On the 7th of February, a group of eager students made their way to the Senior Art Room to have some fun with clay between 2:20 and 3:10 pm. They were shown how to fashion two pinch pots and join them thus trapping the air inside. The resultant shape was turned into a pig, a fish, a tortoise or even any imaginary animal too.

The students had a fun-filled forty five minutes and quite amazingly worked well within the time constraints to make their small animal forms. Clay is a wonderful medium of self-expression and truly has a calming effect on all who work with it. This could be seen by the level of concentration on all the faces of the students present as they got busy moulding their little animals.

A few eager pupils found some time on a later date to apply paint, under the guidance of the H.O.D Visual Arts, to their dry creations and they came up with very interesting results.

THE PATH THAT LED TO NOWHERE...

Shedding tears that could fill a river. I stood there motionless waiting for a miracle to give me back my happiness.....

Coming from school, writing papers for hours really boils you up till the point you go back home and release your anger on that one person, who will happily accept it, your mother. Every second that goes by, you act like you don't need her. Every second you find her annoying and want her out of your life.

Let me tell you a story, one that I didn't expect, one that involves selfless love. Waking up every day to the old crap music my mum liked was like living inside a nightmare. Removing the curtains, she made me see a devil inside what really was an angel. I hurried out of the house to avoid her presence and go to school and return only to see my clothes ready, water heated. But I still had to take out my anger, not realising what I was doing. Making it my natural habit and she making it hers to improve her selfless love every day. A fool I was...

I went to football practice just to avoid her presence. Over the years, she had acquired a hearing problem. She couldn't hear anything properly, that made me even bitter. "She can't hear things", I said. From that day I worked every day to somehow leave the country, study abroad and settle out. The bright face developed wrinkles over time. While I studied abroad got a job, a family but one without a mother. At that point, I still didn't value her.

Only to return after years with my kids who have never met their grand mom. I hated her touching the kids. My hate didn't have a reason, it had become a habit over the years that I didn't notice while acquiring and regret every day now....

In a few years time, she had got cancer. I had no reaction, I didn't care. Over the years my mom was struggling with cancer and me growing up to see my kids graduate. Until one day I received a call, I rushed back to my country, only to see her on the deathbed. I chose to spend time with her in her last minutes. To see her strapped with wires supplying oxygen and what not. I hooked my hand with hers.

At that time she could hear every word, it was like she never had a hearing problem. Still a smiling face now with wrinkles. I had realised what I had done...

"I'm sorry", crying tears filled with pain. Only to hear her say "you were the best son". Dropping my head to live under my mom's shadow one last time. To see her die in my hands with a smiling face. I stood motionless....

Years have passed, every day I wake up and leave flowers at her grave. Not ever knowing that the path I walked at was a path that led to nowhere.....
